
Becoming a collective member of the intermediate staff organisation

Collective membership of the intermediate staff organisation provides a structurally secure link between faculty representatives and the university level.

Becoming a collective member

The intermediate staff organisation (MVUB) welcomes your interest in collective membership. All information about the MVUB can be found at the bottom of the page: University: Membership – University of Bern \(unibe.ch\)

And this is how you proceed to become a collective member:

- If you are interested in a collective membership, the MVUB will be happy to introduce itself at an internal faculty meeting. Please send your request at leitung.mvub@unibe.ch.
- If you want to join directly, you can fill out the application form for collective membership and send it to leitung.mvub@unibe.ch.
- Send an extract from the protocol of the relevant meeting to the same address to join.
- Specify a contact person within the faculty or institute.
- The Board of the MVUB officially confirms the collective member's membership at an ordinary board meeting. The contact person then receives a confirmation from the MVUB office.
- Publish the collective membership on the institute's or faculty's own website.
- The MVUB maintains a list of collective members and the respective contact persons on its website under «Membership».
